Deadline by Chris Crutcher - Goodreads

Deadline (and all of Crutcher's books) is in a YA class of it's own. Crutcher's writing is poignant, realistic, and hilariously funny right up until the point where you are crying from heartbreak. It's easy to love the characters in this book and you love them more for their life struggles and determination to survive (or in one case, determination to die) despite the uglier sides of humanity.

Deadline (Crutcher novel) - Wikipedia

Chris Crutcher is an author who is blissfully unafraid to tell it like it is--even when telling it like it is leads to questions for which there are no easy answers. As I was reading Deadline, I was struck again and again by the no-holds-barred frankness--- the unblinking honesty-- with which Crutcher empowers Ben Wolf, his terminally ill hero.

— Chris Crutcher, quote from Deadline "Love in the universal sense, is unconditional acceptance. In the individual sense, the one on one sense, try this: we can say we love each other if my life is better because you're in it and your life is better because I'm in it. The intensity of that love is weighted by how much better."
